Dear Sirs,

Unitary Authority Electoral Review of Cornwall

This Parish Council agrees that parishes are the primary building blocks for new Electoral divisions and feels strongly that urban and rural areas should be kept distinct. To this end it is better to group parishes with similar interests in the same division.

The boundaries proposed by Penwith District Council appear to uphold these criteria, grouping Zennor with the rural parishes of Madron, Morvah, Pendeen and Towednack rather than with the town of St Ives. However, it is felt that 164 councillors would make for an unwieldy council whilst the 82 as proposed by “One Cornwall” would be insufficient to represent the different needs of all areas.

We trust that this will assist in making your recommendations.

Yours faithfully
For Zennor Parish Council

Lesley Swannell
Parish Clerk
