Issue 309 (Scotland) – 14 June 2022

Consultation on draft performance standards for ROs and updated performance standards for EROs

We have today (14 June 2022) launched a consultation on a new set of performance standards for Returning Officers and updated performance standards for Electoral Registration Officers.

The introduction of the Elections Act has provided a timely opportunity to review the RO performance standards, to ensure they support effective implementation of the Act's changes. We started developing the new standards last autumn, using the structure of the ERO framework as our basis.

During the development we have held discussions with small groups of ROs across Great Britain, as well as with the Wales Electoral Coordination Board and the Electoral Management Board for Scotland. The draft standards have also benefitted from input from the Association of Electoral Administrators, at an official level as well as through discussions around the high-level approach with members at their branch meetings. The draft standards have also been discussed with government officials and the elections leads at the Society of Local Authority Chief Executives (Solace).

As the changes arising from the Elections Act will also affect the role of EROs, we are additionally consulting on changes to the current ERO framework which aim to ensure it reflects these new responsibilities.

We want both sets of standards, along with our guidance and support, to provide a robust framework for the delivery of well-run elections, support the effective and consistent implementation of legislative changes, and enable transparent reporting on delivery and good practice at a local level and across Great Britain.

How to respond

The consultation will run until 26 August 2022 and you can respond by filling in this form or emailing your views to performancestandardsinbox@electoralcommission.org.uk.
